Aged Brown Barn Board

Our authentic reclaimed wood is salvaged mainly from historical barns dating back to the early to late 1800's. This aged to perfection brown siding is the result of over 100 years of natural weathering, hidden from the rain, snow and wind. This product ranges from a light to dark brown aged patina, containing the original circular saw mark traces created from the original water powered circular saw used to cut this prized wood in the early 1800's. This siding also contains nail holes from where it has been reclaimed, giving it a great history.
