Weathered Gray Barn Board

Our authentic reclaimed wood is salvaged mainly from historical barns dating back to the early to late 1800's. This aged to perfection gray siding is the result of over 100 years of natural weathering from the sun combined with the natural elements of rain, snow and wind. This product ranges from light, medium to dark gray tones and has a deep aged weathered texture. It also has the original nail holes from where it has been reclaimed, giving it a great history.
